

PIPELINE CAREER MAZE

There are many different jobs available in the water industry. Follow this maze to learn about how each position plays a key role in helping the environment.

START
HERE

Customer service representatives handle service orders and help solve customer problems.

Plant operators run and monitor the machines that treat water.

Billing and accounting clerks process bills and payments, keep records and make budgets.

Engineers design and oversee the construction of water supply systems.

Water production operators make sure there is enough water pressure to fight fires.

Scientists study water supplies, and collect and analyze water samples.

Meter readers check water meters and record the amount used.

Office staff write reports, schedule meetings, answer calls and emails.

Computer programmers use technology to monitor operations.

Utility Service Workers install, maintain and repair the water pipe distribution systems.

Environmental specialists help protect water from being wasted and polluted.

YOU DID IT!

Human resources specialists work to make the best use of worker skills.